READY FOR THE BIG FIGHT.

The Fock Island-Union Pacific Eridge Case in Federal Court.

PRESENT STATUS OF THE CONTEST.

Hearing to be Commenced Today President Cable Thinks His Road Will Help Move the Nebraska Crop.

President R. R. Caple of the Rock Island and Judge Withrow of Chicago, general attorney for that road, arrived in the city yesterday morning to be present at the trial of the case of the Rock Island against the Union Pacific, which is set for today in the United States court before Justice

Brewer.

Judge Dillon of New York, the general counsel of the Union Pacific, is also in the city and will take an active part in the presentation of the case.

President Cable's first inquiry after his arrival at the Millard was about the condition of crops and whether there had been too much rain. Upon being assured that the crop outlook was never better he expressed satisfaction.

"Do you folks expect to haul much of this crop out of the state!" was asked.

"We certainly do," replied Mr. Cable, very positively. "Will you build another bridge or haul it across the river in boats?"

Mr. Cable leaned back against the balus trade of the stairway leading from the ro-tunds and stuck his thumbs in the armholes of his vest as a quiet smile spread over his features. Then, in a deliberate manner, he said: "If I wasn't a poor man I would bet a suit of clothes we will haul our share of your crop over the Union Pacific bridge."

When pressed for further light on the interior of the Rock Light with reference to tentions of the Rock Island with reference to the building of a new bridge which he men-tioned when here last, Mr. Cable declined to make any statement regarding the matter, saying they shouldn't cross a bridge until they reached it. The case which brings these gentlemen to Omaha is still fresh in the minds of the people in this section, but a brief statement of the main points in the case may not prove un-

A contract was entered into between the A contract was entered into between the Union Pacific on one side and the Rock Island and Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul roads on on the other, whereby the latter roads were to be allowed the use of the Union Pacific bridge and the tracks of that road from the bridge to a point one-half mile south of the South Omana depot. In con-sideration of this use of the track the two roads were each to pay an annual rental of $45,000 besides a certain proportion of the expenses of keeping the track in repair. The Rock Island was also to be allowed the use of the Union Pacific tracks between Beatrice and Lincoln and the Union Pacific was to use the track of the Rock Island between South Omaha and Lincoln. This contract was dated April 23, 1890, and went into effect

May 1, 1890.

The Milwaukee entered upon the use o the track to South Omaha July 1 of last year and used it until December 27, when the con-tract was suddenly abrogated by the Union Pacific, connecting tracks in the Bluffs were torn up and Union Pacific engines were placed at every point where the Milwankee might gain access to the Union Pacific tracks. When the Rock Island attempted to carry out the terms of the contract on January 4 last by entering upon the tracks of the Union Pacific it met with the same fate as the Milwaukee and was not allowed to go upon the tracks. The Rock Island engine gained access to the Union Pa-effic tracks at Beatrice, however, and was kept there for twenty-four hours, awaiting running orders which hever came and the en gine was then withdrawn.

The Union Pacific went into court and ob-pointed a restraining order preventing the Rock Island and the Milwaukee from using the Union Pacific tracks, claiming that the con-tract was not legal because it had not been properly ratified by the board of directors and claiming that the Union Pacific company had no right, under its charter, to make such

White People Object to Indian ! oys Being Furnished Employment

Recent Washinton dispatches would indicate that the superintendent of the Indian school at Genoa this state was not in favor of having the Indian boys work in the beet fields at Norfolk. Such is not the case. In fact quite a number of the Genoa Indian boys are working on farms in the immediate neighborhood of Genoa and all are reported

The Norfolk matter may be summed up as follows: Mr. Oxnard of Grand Island wrote to Secretary Rusk requesting permission to employ the Indian boys at Genoa for the purpose of weeding beets at Norfolk, stating in his letter that he was unable to secure enough men and boys to keep the beet fields clear of weeds. This letter was forwarded by Secretary Rusk to the secretary of the in-terior, who endersed the application and sent it to the commissioner of Indian affairs, who in turn granted the necessary authority, and advised Superintendent Backus of the Indian school to allow such boys as he could spare to go to Norfolk and work in the beet fields, Mr. Oxnard and Secretary Hamilton of the beet sugar company, called at the Genoa school and made arrangements for thirty Indian boys, who were to receive the same wages as the whites engaged in the same

The Kuights of Labor and a few outsiders, when they heard that the Indian boys had been engaged to work in the beet fields met n a mass meeting and passed resolutions condemning Indian labor, and forwarded the resolutions to the commissioner of Indian affairs and Superintendent Backus.

Superintendent Backus had the boys ready and was waiting for the train when he received a dispatch from Mr. Hamilton, ask received a dispatch from Mr. Hamilton ask-ing him not to send the boys but to wait for a letter. In this letter, which came to hand next day, Mr. Hamilton said that it was not best to send the Indian boys to Norfolk in the face of the resolutions adopted by the mass meeting at Norfolk, but that he would like to have the boys sent to Grand Island for work there.

Mr. Oxnard, in his interview with Superof Grand Island were pooling against the Oxnard company, and that he thought the sentiment there was against the employment of outside labor, and that it would be better that the Indians be sent to Norfolk.

Knowing Mr. Oxnard's sentiments in regard to Grand Island, Superintendent Backus recommended that the Indian boys be not sent to Grand Island and forwarded all communications in regard to the affair to Washington and is now waiting for further

That the employment of thirty Indian boys should create such confusion is to be regretted. Quite a number of the thirty engaged are children of parents who are citizens of this state—being Omaha and Winnebago Indians.

Some white people say that Indians are lazy and won't work, but when a chance is given them, a vigorous protest is made and the true changes.

THE UNION DEPOT. An Officer of the Company Explains the Situation. Speaking of the action of the board of trade in urging the completion of the new union depot, an officer of the depot company said the matter was not properly understood by the members of the board of trade or the citizens generally. Speaking of the present situation of affairs, he said: "In the arrangement between the city and the Union depot company it was agreed that the Burlington and Union Pacific companies should build a viaduct across the railroad tracks on Tenth street, and that the depot company should build a depot according to the plans submitted and approved by the city, the viaduct to be completed and opened by January 1, 1891.

"I might say right here that the plans orig-inally submitted contemplated the use of the old depot shed as a train shed, and an entrance for vehicles by means of an inclined plane leading from the viaduct to the tracks. plane leading from the viaduct to the tracks. This was objected to by a large number of citizens and city officials and the plans were then changed, preserving the main features of the original plans, but doing away with the old shed and making a wing on the viaduct for the use of vehicles, allowing them to reach the depot but doing away with the inclined plane. In place of the latter it was arranged to build a long train shed for the use of through trains. Some details in the construction of the building were also changed but these changes were not also changed but these changes were no material. These plans were approved by althe city officials and a full account of the changes were given in THE BEE at the time. All this occurred before the election and was given out to the public on every occasion with no effort at concealment.

"The depot company entered upon the work and completed and opened the viaduct according to agreement, besides spending several hundred thousand dollars upon the epot plant. This work was going on in full force and, through no fault of either railroad was stopped by injunction.

"As a part of the bargain with the city, bonds were voted in aid of these improve-ments to the amount of $150,000, the bonds to be delivered to Kountze Brothers, trustees, be delivered to Kountze Brothers, trustees, at any time after voting the same that the bonds could be printed and executed in due form. At the same time the city was to convey the title of the depot grounds to the depot company by quit claim deed. The delivery of the bonds and this deed by the city was to be simultaneous with the delivery, by the union depot company and the Union Pacific railway company, of Pacific railway company, to the amount of $200,000 providing that the depot company should allow all railroads, which now or may here-after enter Omaha, to occupy the depot on equitable terms, and if parties failed to agree, the terms to be settled by arbitration. The bonds to be given by the Union Pacific also provided that all roads desiring to cross the bridge to reach the depot should have the right to do so on fair and reasonable terms, subject to arbitration in case of disagree

"It is understood that at the time the Stuht suit was brought all these bonds and deeds had been executed and were ready for the exchange, but the restraining order of the court prevented their delivery.

"The Union Pacific company did not feel much like going ahead with the work on ground which it could not convey to the Union depot company without risk of forfeiture to the city and the Burlington company could not see its way clear to spend more money on premises to which it had no title nor prospect of title until the question had been littered. had been litigated.
"Both companies fest that they had fairly earned the right to demand the delivery of the $150,000 bonds to the trustees, as they had performed their part of the contract in good shape and expected the city to do the It is understood that it is the intention of the Union Pacific company to care the depot up one story higher than to the depot up one story higher than to the depot up one story higher than to the depot up one story higher than the story highe are of any more money in the premises. A box of Ayer's pills has saved many a fit
